

DOSI Deep-Sea Webinar Series (sponsored by INDEEP) and Hosted by Linwood Pendleton

2014 Series: The first webinar series informed members of the deep-sea community about deep-ocean stewardship activities underway via various organizations in order to avoid duplication of efforts and to create opportunities for partnership and collaboration between deep-sea stakeholders.

- Kristina Gjerde- Laws, Policies and Plans for the Deep Ocean (IUCN & DOSI) – (7 May 2014)
- Jeff Ardon – High Seas Governance (IASS & DOSI) – (7 May 2014)
- Eric Lindstrom – Toward a Deep Ocean Observing Strategy (DOOS) – (21 May 2014)
- Pat Halpin – The Description of Ecologically or Biologically Significant Areas (CBD ESBA) – (21 May 2014)
- Sandor Mulsow – Towards an Environmental Impact Assessment: Guidelines for the Deep Sea (ISA) – (4 June 2014)
- Phil Weaver – Deep-Ocean Stewardship and the MIDAS Project (MIDAS) – (18 June 2014)
- Hannah Lily – Pacific Islands: Deep Sea Minerals (SPC-SOPAC) – (18 June 2014)
- Paul Holthus – Science Community and Ocean Business Community Collaboration for Sustainability (WOC) – (2 July 2014)
- Matt Gianni – The regulation of Activities in the Deep Sea: a Conservation Perspective (DSCC)- (2 July 2014)
- David Johnson- Global Ocean Biodiversity Initiative (GOBI) – (16 July 2014)
- Kristian Teleki – From Decline to Recovery: A Rescue Package for the Global Ocean (GOC) – (16 July 2014)

2015 Series: The second webinar series was entitled “Deep-Sea Promises and Challenges”. There is a lot happening in the deep sea: new science, new industrial activity, new proposals for management, and new challenges to tackle. Following on from the success of webinar series 2014, this second series of intimate webinars hosted guests representing perspectives from an array of deep-ocean stakeholders: minerals, oil, fishing, conservation and society.

- Samantha Smith and Charles Roche – Industrial Mining in the Deep Sea: Social and Environmental Considerations – Link (14 May 2015)
- Rob O’Brien – The Oil Industry’s Technological Advancements for the Ocean Environment (BP) – Link (17 June 2015)
- Charles Goddard and Maria Damanaki – The Deep Blue Economy – Link (16 September 2015)
- Claire Nouvian and Glen Wright – Deep-Sea Fisheries – Link (21 October 2015)
- Lisa Levin – Deep Ocean Stewardship Initiative – A Way Forward Link (18 November 2015)
- Harriet Harden-Davies – Deep-Sea Genetic Resources: Governance, Science and Stewardship – Link (16 December 2015)